is less doubtful. At the present moment the people have authorized bond issues amounting to more than $160,-000,000 for highways, canals, and park reservation. Before the Legislature now in session there are plans for further bond issues amounting to $48,000,000: $18,000,000 for canal terminals, $10,000,000 all acquired in less than ten years.

The right of the people of the State to of the last three State administrations this great debt has been built up withthat time it will doubtless be possible to obtain popular approval for any bond issue from voters who as yet have no personal knowledge of what the repayment of the debt means to them.

However admirable each separate it is none the less necessary to recognize he disturbing frequency with which bond issues are being proposed and pions of the various projects calling for | weighty reasons for silence. bond issues by the State are alive to the situation and anxious to obtain approval for their schemes before the deluge arrives is therefore inevitable.

The Legislature of the State should approve no more plans which increase the State debt until it has by imposing a direct tax taught the public precisely what bond issues mean. To go on piling up a debt upon a credit which really consists of popular ignorance of the real consequences is not merely dishonest. it is dangerous.
